

Ally IV & Therapeutics, Inc

BACKGROUND

Ally IV and Therapeutics was founded by Susan S. Wilkinson, MSN, PMHNP-BC, RN. IV therapy, intravenous vitamin, amino acid, and mineral replacement therapy is a technique used to get mostly naturally occurring compounds such as vitamins or amino acids into the body in a more therapeutic and effective way than taking the same supplements orally. Many vitamins, minerals, and amino supplements are not well absorbed by the gastrointestinal system due to low bioavailability, pathogenic microbes, and simply the aging process. IV therapy is a way to bypass those barriers preventing adequate absorption and achieve therapeutic levels of nutrients. Bioavailability refers to the actual amount of a nutrient or compound that is absorbed or becomes available to interact directly with the cells of the body after administration. There are many obstacles that can block drug access preventing the desired effect in the intended area. These obstacles can vary from cell membranes to first pass metabolism, to failure and blockages of uptake in the gastrointestinal tract, and alterations gastrointestinal functioning.

Vitamins and minerals are important to support metabolism of certain medications; to penetrate the cells of the body. Administration of these components via the bloodstream can improve adherence and improved outcomes. The heightened bioavailability achieved through IV administration can contribute to improved metabolism of nutrients within the body, this modality of nutrient repletion is safe and well tolerated by most people.

Vitamin Infusions can provide needed vitamins, minerals, antioxidants, and amino acids far more effectively than pills alone can. Vitamin-mineral nutrients infusions allow higher dosages of targeted supplements, with better absorption, and faster delivery to the cells throughout your body. Often a few weeks of therapy will:

1. Markedly improved symptoms related to chronic disease.
2. Allows quick and easy transition to the appropriate oral supplements.

IV VITAMIN AND NUTRIENT THERAPY CAN

- Help with a variety of health concerns
- Help you feel better
- Give you more energy!

The IV route allows for a much higher concentration of micronutrients to be delivered directly in your bloodstream rather than the oral route of administration (tablets, capsules, or liquids)

Many vitamin and mineral supplements are not well absorbed by the body. Because we can deliver large doses of nutrients safely into a vein, intravenous (IV) therapy with vitamins & nutrients is an extremely valuable medical tool.

WHY VITAL NUTRIENTS?

Vitamins, minerals, amino acids, and antioxidants can have an incredibly potent effect when administered directly into a vein. All the nutrients used are natural and have been proven to be effective in the treatment of a variety of medical conditions.

IV Vitamin and Nutrient Therapy may also be used for a variety of other reasons such as just feeling “unwell.” We often employ a trial infusion with a “Myers’ Cocktail” or what we refer to as an “IV Energy Boost”, a general vitamin infusion, to see if you see some improvements.

Depletion of much needed vitamins, minerals, amino acids, and antioxidants.

The amount of critical nutrients in our food supply has been depleted by modified means of food production. Much of the food we eat is outsourced outside of the US making it challenging to monitor and quality control the way foods are grown or the chemicals that may be part of the food supply.

Additionally, due to chronic medical conditions or idiopathic malabsorption addition, some individuals do not adequately absorb nutrients from the gastrointestinal tract. These conditions include chronic constipation, diarrhea, abdominal pain, or bloating, most likely are not absorbing nutrients adequately. As such, the body is more susceptible to an ongoing cycle of malabsorption, exacerbating chronic illness due to these deficiencies.

Chemical toxicity secondary to acute or chronic exposure to chemicals - including patients with severe environmental illness, chemical sensitivity, or past exposure to chemicals - may also benefit. We use various types of detoxification protocols to help these patients.

WHAT IS IV VITAMIN INFUSION?

IV vitamin infusion efficiently administers minerals, vitamins, amino acids, and other natural substances directly into the bloodstream. The primary advantage of IV therapy is bypassing the patient’s digestive system. When vitamins are taken orally, they must be processed through the stomach and the intestines. In many cases, substances may be rendered inactive in the digestive tract or may not be adequately absorbed due to poor intestinal function or genetic variations. By providing the nutrients directly into the bloodstream, the body may be able to quickly and efficiently reach optimal levels of these substances. This has the potential to alleviate vitamin and nutritional deficiencies for an immediate therapeutic response.
